Privacy Notice

From December 21, 2002 new privacy laws have been introduced that protect the privacy of an individual's personal information and the way private sector businesses and organisations handle personal information.

The aim of the new laws is to ensure that private organisations handle information responsibly and provide a consistent national approach to control the collection, use and disclosure of the personal information. Under the law, individuals have new rights such as access to their information.

Football Federation Victoria (FFV) recognises and supports a persons right to privacy in relation to their information and FFV will handle such information in accordance with our legal requirements.

Privacy Notice:

FFV is committed to abiding by the provisions of the Privacy Act 1988 (as amended) and its principles. FFV will honour its obligations relating to the collection, use and disclosure of personal information.

FFV will only collect personal information where it is necessary to enable us to provide our services in running and managing the various league competitions, coaching courses, squads, clinics, referee services and for the purpose of communication of information (for example club statements) to FFV's clubs and Affiliates.

FFV discloses personal information to third parties in limited circumstances. For example, the distribution of FFV's publication 'Head to Head' to all registered soccer players within the State of Victoria is handled by a mail distribution organisation. Such an arrangement limits the mail house to distributing the information on behalf of FFV. In other circumstances, if an external agency wishes to promote a product/service through either FFV's club networks or via FFV's registered players, and FFV agrees to a written request from the organisation, information may be sent out from the FFV on behalf of the organisation.

FFV will take the necessary steps to ensure that any third party the Federation has an association with also complies with the new Privacy Laws.

FFV also takes reasonable steps to ensure that whenever we collect, use or disclose personal information it is accurate, complete and up-to-date.
